

O2

A Case Study

Milliken inspires at O2 offices in Dublin

O2 offices, situated in the vibrant business district of Sir John Rogersons Quay, Dublin, has recently refurbished its working offices.

Across five floors, Milliken's Snap and Strike Out carpet tiles cover 10,000m² of office space with a layout that brightens the working environment and defines meeting and breakout areas, while providing a hard wearing and easy to clean floor surface.

Milliken worked closely with Winroy Office Furniture Solutions to produce visuals using existing office furniture, so that O2 were able to visualise the schemes in practise.

"The visuals were a great way for the client to see how the proposed schemes would look within the office space, allowing them to choose a colour, pattern and layout combination that suited their ambitions for the project."

Paul Kenny, Winroy Office Furniture Solutions

Break out areas on each floor were assigned a different colour, with matching Strike Out tiles used as stepping-stones placed around each floor. A darker version of Snap Back was used at the main lift lobby areas of each floor to protect against soiling due to the high levels of footfall they are exposed to. Formwork was specified for the stairwells allowing for both a value conscious approach to the specification as well as a striking interior.
